

We're raising £1,000 to pay for materials for sewing Scrubs so desperately needed to keep up with demand in these difficult times.

With hospital admissions rising, a new more transmissible, variant it's become clear that our hospital staff are on the edge! Since we've learnt that because of the new variant, scrubs are in high regional demand. 'Anyone know how to sort scrubs out...?' A volunteer posted... We do, I replied!

I had organised last March a scrubs group, whilst not as manic as last year, because of the new variant, it is understood that more people are being drafted in and more changes of scrubs are made during the day, its slightly pressured regionally.

To start off, Fiona Lawrie offered her organisational skills, while I ordered the fabric in, created a group and a donations page in which we have nearly raised £1000 for sewers to get on and create the scrubs needed.

So far, we have managed to get as much fabric as the donations page can afford in the specific colours required. We are due to receive our 1st batch of scrubs this week, to go directly to the PRUH. We can't wait to see them go off to the staff.

We are also creating Pamper Hampers from local SE20 small/micro businesses which will be sent with the scrubs.

We are also creating Pamper Hampers from local SE20 small/micro businesses which will be sent with the scrubs. The idea is to help create smiles amongst the staff, to say we're thinking of them all. Businesses such as; Gerri Keniger, Artist, Carnival Coffee, Taylor & Abel and Pip & Lil have contributed to the Pamper Hampers. There are more businesses contributing.

People are emailing me with kind messages to be written on the back of the postcards, so each postcard is different and genuinely from the community. If you have a message of thanks please email;

As businesses we can donate so much however we would like to create more pamper hampers. A donations page has been set up if you wish to donate towards them, you can use this link;

A huge thanks goes out to all that has donated on both initiatives. What a wonderful community we have. xx
